Raider Review

The Champs

By PHIL AGEE

From far away it could be seen . . . a banner with the words "Seminole District Champs" printed across it. Last Friday's 33-8 triumph over William Campbell proved to be the clincher for the Raiders; however, the district championship is now a thing of the past.

A whole new season is about to begin for the Raiders because along with the district championship comes an automatic bid to the regional playoffs. This Friday night the Raiders face Piedmont District Champion Martinsville in Group AA Region II semi-final action. The Bulldogs finished their regular season with a 5-5 mark with four of the losses coming against Group AA schools. (Schools with 1200 or more students in grades 10-12.)

Appomattox players are optimistic, however, that they can win the region. "I think we can win the region because first of all, we play as a team," stated senior lineman Robert Paulette. "We always give each other credit. If someone messes up, it's not an unforgivable

There is also a possibility that the Raiders could face Brookville again, provided both teams are victorious in the regional semifinals. "I know we can beat them," boasted junior Gary Ferguson when asked about a possible rematch. Should the game between the Raiders and Brookville materialize, it would once again be played in Appomattox because the Bees are considered the regional wild-card.

Play-off games not only give players extra incentive, but they also provide ACHS students, cheerleaders, and band members, as well as Appomattox citizens, an opportunity to continue contributing their support. The encouragement given by each of these groups has been a tremendous aid in the Raiders' success this year. Let's hope the banner reads "State Champs" in the coming weeks.

Benefit bazaar slated

Friends of Lisa Rogers are sponsoring a bazaar at Oakville School Dec. 4 from 8 a.m. until . .

Craft items and baked goods, along with other things that have been donated will be for sale. There will also be coffee, donuts and hot dogs.

A drawing for a beautiful handmade quilt will be held. The quilt was made by Mrs. Thelma Rogers, Lisa's grandmother.

The proceeds from this project will be donated to the Lisa Rogers Memorial Fund, of Red Oak Church.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution, please contact Mrs. H. L. Wilkerson at 352-7385, or Mrs. Roy Woody, 352-7514.

Need for rabies shots stressed by veterinarian

By FRANCES PAULETTE

Rabies...an ugly word; we shrink from even thinking about the possibility of our pet dogs or cats becoming rabid. But wait, take another look.

This year there have been more reported cases of animal rabies in Virginia then in any year since records were started in 1942 according to a report from the Virginia Department of Health's Regional Office.

There have been 503 cases of rabies in animals reported to date in 1982. Since mid 1981 when the current outbreak began, 18 counties have reported cases of raccoon and/or skunk rabies. The outbreak has spread from the Shenandoah Valley northward into Maryland and eastward into the Northern Virginia area. Although the focus is presently in Northern Virginia, cases of animal rabies continue to be in the 1960's and 1970's, the fox was the most frequently reported infected species, whereas the raccoon accounts for nearly 90 percent of the reported cases in the recent outbreak.

Outbreaks of rabies in foxes tend to burn out quickly in the affected areas because foxes become ill and die very soon after they become infected.

In contrast, raccoons with rabies may have an incubation period of up to 90 days. Raccoons are more resistant to the overwhelming rabies infection and tend to shed the virus for longer peiods of time before becoming noticeably ill.

Rabies is a universally fatal disease in humans once infection has occured. Therefore, rabies control efforts must focus on preventing human rabies by minimizing human exposure to the disease. First of all, individuals, especially those in the affected areas, should be discouraged from keeping wild animals as pets and should be continuously warned about the potential dangers of contact with wild animals.

The second, and most important, means of preventing human exposure to rabies involves the vaccination of household pets to provide a barrier between infected wild animals and humans. Rabies experts believe that human cases of the disease are most likely to occur indirectly through a family's pet, rather than through an untreated bite by a wild animal.

While the Code of Virginia requires all dogs to be licensed after reaching six months of age and a licensee cannot be obtained without proof of vaccination, the current law does not require cats to be immunized.

"Due to the outbreak of rabies in other counties I strongly advise all cat owners, especially if the cat is an outdoor cat or spends part of the time out of doors, to have that cat immunized against rabies," said William Burger, local veterinarian.

Primary PTA to meet

The second meeting of the Appomattox Primary PTA will be held Thursday, Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. at the school.

The program for the evening is the annual Book Fair. Also on the program is a speech by Dr. Beatrice Bland, a retired Longwood College professor who will speak on "Children and Reading."

All parents are encouraged to attend this meeting.

Book week slated here

National Children's Book Week, an annual event, is November 15-21. The theme is "GET LOST IN A BOOK". There's no better time than now, to start reading a book a day with your child. Information, imagination, and fun are all available to those who "GET LOST IN A BOOK". The Appomattox Primary School PTA will sponsor a Book Fair during that week. Books will be sold Tuesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. 3:30 p.m. and before and after the PTA meeting on Thursday night, November 18. Parents are invited to come during these hours.

Rally held at Rustburg

On October 19, 1982 the Campbell/Appomattox Federation held its Fall Rally at Rustburg High School. FHA members from ACHS attended the meeting and had lunch at Rustburg High School. The theme for the Fall Rally was "Reach Out For the Future". Mr. Reggie Smith, Mrs. Jean Goad, state supervisor, and Angie Farrar, state treasurer, were guest speakers. Joanie Canada, Renee Wells, Darlene Smith and Tina Reynolds lead a relaxer and a scavenger hunt. Jody Williams sang and played the piano accompanied by Robin Paulette on the drums. The Appomattox FHA participated in all the activities during the meeting.

Catholic courses planned

Beginning Sunday, Nov. 14, for six weeks classes are being offered for those interested in learning more about the Catholic faith and practices.

Father Al Pereira, pastor, will present a film strip with tape and then answer questions the audience may have.

Classes will be from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Sundays, in the church building located off of Highway 24 East, at the intersection of #627 and #631.

Ther will be a Little League Basketball meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 at Central Fidelity Bank.

All interested coaches, referees, and parents are invited to attend.

Hunt Club to meet

The Agee Hunting Club will meet on November 13 at 6 p.m. at Monte's Cabin; meal will be served.

All members are urged to attend.

A SECOND MORTGAGE.
Home improvement without wrecking your budget.

This is the time of year when a lot of us start thinking about adding on a room or two to the old place. Or completely redecorating. Problem is that it costs a lot of money. And while you can afford to pay for it over the long haul, you just don't have that much money at one time.

There's an easy solution: a Central Fidelity Second Mortgage. With the equity you've been building up in your home you can borrow money for home fix-up, or any good reason. And you can take as much as ten years to repay. Talk to a Central Fidelity Loan Officer about your money needs. And improve your home without wrecking your budget.

St. Anne's Church sets 'Food Fair' on Nov. 20

St. Anne's Episcopal Church on Oakleigh Avenue will host a Food Fair in the Church Parish Hall in Saturday, Nov. 20.

Foods from many nations, including Chinese, Greek, Italian, and French will be offered for sale, either to enjoy for lunch at the church or to take home for future enjoyment.

Of course, good American pies, cakes, cookies, breads and rolls will be for sale, also. If you want to try some authentic Egg rolls from the Orient or spinach pastries from Greece, plus an array of quiches, crepes or delicious desserts, then come to St. Anne's Church on Nov. 20. It's a good time to buy your Thanksgiving breads and desserts and other goodies.

In addition to all the delectable foods for sale, there will be a room full of exciting White Elephant items for sale. Everyone is most cordially invited to join in the festivities of the Food Fair.

All proceeds will go toward the work of the church.

Block grants

Public hearing set

On November 17 from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m. at Central Virginia Community College in Lynchburg a Public Hearing has been scheduled in order that comments may be heard on the report of the Governor's Commission on Block Grants.

The membership of the Commission is composed of citizens from Virginia that represent local concerns from both public and private sectors.

After several meetings of the full commissiodn, three committees wer formed to study and make specific recommendations in the areas or roles and responsibilities, program administration and service delivery priorities and allocations.

Mrs. Virginia Babcock of the Appomatox County Department of Social Services serves on the Committee on Priorities and Allocations.

The Lynchburg hearing is one of seveas to be held in the State of Virginia.

Choir to perform

The Patrick Henry Boys Plantation Choir will be in concert at the Evergreen Baptist Church on Sunday evening, November 14 at 7 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Forest gets part

Michael O. Forest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie E. Forest, Sr., of Red House, has been chosen to play the role of Monostatos, a Moor, servant of Sarastro in the upcoming Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music production of Mozart's Opera, "The Magic Flute." Directed by Harold Herman, with musical direction by Dr. William Averitt and vocal direction by Jackson Sheats all of Shenandoah, the play will be presented November 18, 20, and 21.

Mr. Forest, a graduate of Randolph Henry High School, is a sophomore at Shenandoah studying for the Bachelor of Music Education degree with a major, in voice.

Each year, Shenandoah's Theatre Department presents four major productions. "The Magic Flute" is the second in the season. "Brigadoon," a musical comedy, will be presented February 10-13, followed by J. M. Synge's "Playboy of the Western World," March 31 through April 10.

For ticket information, call or write the Shenandoah Box Office, Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music, Winchester, VA 22601, (703) 667-8886.

Mr. Willie Harvey came home from the hospital Monday, and is progressing nicely.

Food For Thought

Give a special thanks to God for this beautiful day. It is beautiful, because God made it and gave it to us. What a change it makes in our lives when we accept today for what it is and live it to the fullest. There are so many things to do, so many people to help and so much work to be done that we need to make every moment count!
